According to the market rate for the adjoining lands. The rate mentioned in answer to (c) is the maximum.

Mr. Siddalinga Setty.—

Are the Government not aware that the market rate in the locality is over Rs. 1,000 per acre and that the compensation awarded has not been adequate according to the above standard ?

If the parties are dissatisfied, they can go in appeal as provided in the Land Acquisition Regulation.

The proceedings of the Land Acquisition Officer are governed by law which provides for necessary legal remedies to aggrieved parties.

Mr. Siddalinga Setty.—

Would it not be a hardship to every raiyat aggrieved by the award to resort to law courts at heavy expense ?

There is no use arguing the point further. If the Government consider that further enquiries should be made in the matter, they will certainly do so.
